

BestSellerPublications.com (BSP) is a local book publisher looking for its next client to bring his/her manuscript to print.

The publisher welcomes authors of all genres to submit their manuscripts for free consideration for publication. For the authors who are awarded a book publishing contract, BSP pays for and manages the printing, marketing, sales fulfillment and distribution of generous royalties.

BSP also invites authors to participate in its annual literary contest that offers a $100 prize for the winner.

Recently BSP released three new books: Ex-Cops And Robbers (fiction), The World of Comics (fiction), and Resumes That Impress! (non-fiction). BSP has an on-line bookstore and promotes its titles through national distributors, digital media, print media and book festivals.

All three of BSPs latest publications are available through the bookstore link on BestSellerPublications.com

BSP is a young micro press that dedicates an abundance of one-on-one time with its clients. The company invites everyone to submit their manuscripts to find the authors who best deserve to not only be published, but also fully financed and represented in the marketplace.
